Carolyn Le, MD

Family Medicine

Born and raised in Orange County, Dr. Carolyn Le studied biological sciences at UC Irvine before attending medical school at Saint George's University in Grenada, West Indies. She has since lived in Brooklyn, NY and the Central Valley in California and is excited to now be living in the Bay Area.

Dr. Le thrives on the variety offered by all areas of family medicine, and particularly enjoys pediatrics, women's health, and minor office procedures. Her practice goal is to help patients stay healthy by making healthy choices, staying active, and having access to appropriate resources and preventive care.

In her spare time, she enjoys cooking, baking, and trying new foods, as well as hiking, biking, and exploring new places.
